

WHAT THE STARS HAVE IN STORE FOR THE STARS

● During a publicity tour, Ben Affleck winds up in the middle of a terrorist situation, which he manages to defuse by negotiating with the attackers.

● A new reality TV show is mired in scandal when it is revealed that a winning participant killed and ate one of the competitors.

● Actress and singer Lindsay Lohan unveils a new artistic talent and launches a nationwide fad for needlepoint embroidery.

● A rock star from the 1960s is elected to office in Britain's parliament, and becomes a goodwill ambassador to America's music fans.

● Burt Reynolds runs for public office on the local or county level and wins.

● Teen queen Hilary Duff is betrayed by a close friend, possibly a boyfriend, who broadcasts embarrassing secrets to the world.

● Donald Trump and another financier – possibly Warren Buffet or Bill Gates – are involved in a public brawl. This may be a high-profile court case, or it could be a physical fight at a charity event.

● Angelina Jolie's son Maddox makes an unusual accomplishment in the field of mathematics or engineering, possibly inventing a new electronic device.

● A member of the Jackson family – but not Janet – hires doctors to clone a baby.

● A hip-hop music producer has a health scare when a rival tricks him into wearing poisoned jewelry.

● Basketball star "Sir" Charles Barkley testifies in a Senate hearing about laws governing obscene language on television.

● Wayward hotel heiress Paris Hilton has a mystical experience in the Far East and cuts off all her hair.

● Congress narrowly passes an amendment to allow Austrian-born Arnold Schwarzenegger to run for president.

● A blond actor from Texas makes world headlines by rescuing a girl's life in a French traffic accident.

● NASCAR hero Dale Earnhardt Jr. quits racing to open a nationwide business franchise.

● While researching a criminal character for a film role, Nicole Kidman winds up becoming a criminal suspect herself.

● Musical fear-meister Marilyn Manson campaigns for a seat in Congress.

● Madonna has to be on her guard against a mysterious infection.

● Spy Kids star Alexa Vega launches a fabulous new career as a fashion designer.

● Hard times hit Hollywood, with a slaying so vicious it overshadows the Manson murders.

● An aging movie star is involved in another tiger attack, similar to the tragic Siegfried & Roy mauling.

● Microsoft founder Bill Gates gives a million computers to Afghanistan

● Tragedy strikes when a sports stadium roof collapses, killing thousands of fans.

● A world-renowned Formula One racecar driver perishes in a fiery crash.

● Martha Stewart's star rises again, with a new reality show and a best-selling book.